

Variety to distribute $900k funding for SA Kids

The 2021 Variety Club Bash assisted the 'Variety Sprout Fund 2.'

VARIETY, the children's charity of South Australia has launched 'phase two' of the very successful grant initiative, 'Variety Sprout Fund 2,' and it is calling for applications.

Over three years, the fund will see an additional $900,000 injected into the state to individuals and organisations for innovative programs that support children in need, to achieve greater impact on children in the SA community.

'Variety Sprout Fund 2's' goal is to enable each successful organisation to grow or innovate in its area of expertise without the pressure of sourcing funds.

Six South Australian organisations, selected by an independent panel, will successfully receive $150,000 each over three years.

Variety will allocate funding to successful applicants over three years; this may include wages and other costs not currently considered under the existing Variety grant criteria, enabling them to concentrate on their core business – helping more children.

Variety SA CEO Mark Gill encouraged all relevant agencies or individuals to apply immediately.

Anyone with an innovative program or initiative to support children in the state is encouraged to apply.

Since 1983, Variety has granted more than $67,000,000 to distribute to children in need in the state, including schools, hospitals and other children's charities.

Applications close Wednesday, March 9 – visit www.varietysa.org.au.
