

Variety Bash

Fundraising Guide

You will be amazed at the generosity of your friends, family and local community when it comes to raising money for Variety. They know the Variety Bash has impacted thousands of children in need, and that you are having fun for all the right reasons.

Let them know you are covering all your own expenses, and that the money you are raising is tax deductible and goes straight into the charity – you will exceed your fundraising targets before you know it!

Here's a step by step guide to get you started!

- Step 1 Register your car for the Variety Bash - you cannot fundraise for your Bash car without your car being a current Bash car!)
- Step 2 Receive 'Authority to Fundraise' letter – Variety will send you this once you register
- Step 3 Look at fundraising rules i.e. raising funds for a Variety WA Bash Car vs Variety WA
- Step 4 Register your EverydayHero fundraising page.
- Step 5 Or, use the Variety WA page for donations. It is important to always record your Bash car number noting for all donations, otherwise it will not be allocated to your car total.
- Step 6 Email the Bash Team with some basic details of your event at events@varietywa.org.au:
 - To make sure there is no date overlap (or inappropriateness!)
 - To see if we can help (optional)
 - To advertise for you on Facebook (optional)
 - To share your unique, insightful, exciting new fundraising idea with other Bashers
 - As always, let the Bash Boss know how you are going!

Fundraising Tips

Hold an Event

There are many different fundraising events that you could organise to reach your fundraising goal, here are a few ideas:

- Trivia night, quiz night or bingo
- Sausage sizzle at your local Bunnings, BCF etc.
- Morning tea, afternoon tea or high tea.
- Golf day
- Cake sale
- Movie night
- Car wash
- Dinner party
- Raffle or auction
- Colour or shave your hair

Think about how you can make your event different with themes and activities. Contact friends and/or businesses to see if they can donate items for you to use. Don't forget when you're holding an event there are lots of other creative ways to make additional funds. Encourage people to bribe you for trivia answers, make up movie snack bags for people to purchase, golfers can give a kickback to skip a hole.

Get your workplace involved

Some companies have Employee Matched Funding programs which match some/all of an employee's charity fundraising efforts or a charity fund. Ask your HR department or manager, and even if they don't actually have a program they may make a donation to support your participation in The Variety Bash.

Variety can help with any information they require or with any paperwork. We can also provide a certificate, tax deductible receipt and thank them directly if you let us know.

Even without a matched funding program, your workplace can still support you. See if you can hold a fundraiser at work such as a bake sale, casual day, or a BBQ.

Ask Us For Help

Here are a few ways we can help you with your fundraising

Banners

Variety WA have a number of promotional materials you are able to hire for your events. Including red and white tear drops available for inside and outdoor use, motoring archway and (at a cost charged to your car) red flashing heart rings and pins.

Videos

We encourage you to use stories of our variety kids to spread the Variety message and help with your fundraising. Attached are two videos about Variety and the children that have been assisted thanks to fundraising events like the Bash. Share the videos with your friends, family and work colleagues to spread your fundraising message.

Advertising

We are happy to help you to promote your fundraising events on the Variety WA website and on the Variety Bash Facebook page. Email your event details and event brochure to richelle.lowe@varietywa.org.au

Fundraising Tips from our Highest Fundraisers

variety
BASH

"Instead of asking for cash donations, mainly ask businesses for items to auction at an event. Then hold an event where people buy tickets or you have ways of getting money from them on the night. People then feel like they've had a great night's entertainment as well as supporting the charity." #308 Finding Dory

"Do small regular fun fundraisers, helps build the camaraderie of the team and makes the total target seem a lot more achievable. Also, keep a data base of attendees so when you have another awesome event you have a readymade mailing list."

#69 Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles

"Get involved with the local council, let them know that you are fundraising for Variety WA and are available to provide BBQs or awareness for any of their events. Then during the event they can run raffles and draw them on the same day without having to log it to the (Liquor and Gaming Act)." #289 Captain Underpants

"Plan ahead and work out what events are in your area so you don't clash. Advertise to & thank your fundraisers A little bit of praise goes along way. Start early! don't leave it until the last minute or spread events over year, as it gets tiring especially if every one can't help at same time. Ask your business or work for support - a lot of companies will match give if hold fundraising days i.e. casual dress day / shave for Variety / morning tea etc." #07 Pilbara Princesses

"Rely on your business contacts, really think about who you do business with and don't hesitate to ask for their support." #181 Beach Boys
